5. Save records, save searches and setting alerts

The screenshot shows a search results page for the query 'bryder tuberculosis'. The search bar at the top contains the query and a 'Save search' button (indicated by a blue '2' callout). Below the search bar, the page shows 'PAGE 1 245 Results' and a 'Personalise' toggle. On the left, there are 'Active filters' (Peer-reviewed Journals) and 'Refine your results' options. The main content area displays an article titled 'Partnerships for health: Decimating tuberculosis in the Cook Islands, 1920-1975'. A blue '1' callout points to a pin icon in the top right corner of the article card, which is used to save the record.

1. Save a record, using the Pin, to keep the details of an item.
2. Save your search to see the list of results later.
3. You can also save a search and run it on a regular basis to keep up to date with new publications. Results can be sent to you in an email or RSS feed. See My favourites in section 6.

6. My favourites

The screenshot shows the 'My Favourites' section of the University of Auckland Catalogue. The header includes 'The Catalogue Libraries and Learning Services' and navigation links for 'DATABASES', 'E-JOURNALS', 'TAGS', and 'Sign-in'. A blue header bar contains a 'Search history' button (indicated by a blue '2' callout) and a 'Pin' button (indicated by a blue '1' callout). Below the header, the 'My Favourites' section is divided into three tabs: 'SAVED RECORDS', 'SAVED SEARCHES', and 'SEARCH HISTORY'. The 'SAVED SEARCHES' tab is active, showing a list of three saved search queries. Each query has a 'Pin' icon (indicated by a blue '1' callout) and a 'Set an alert for this search' button. A callout box points to the 'Pin' icon, stating: 'Go to my favourites (the pin button in the blue header) to see your saved records, saved searches and set up email alerts or RSS feeds to keep up to date.'

Note: To work with your previous Saved Searches, use the old Library Search Catalogue. Library Search Catalogue will remain until these features are available in the new Catalogue in 2018.
